Important information about your KeyBank personal checking account disclosures

We want to make you aware of an update to your disclosures. There is a daily cap of five Overdraft Item (OD) and Return Item (NSF) Fee Charges. This cap is based on the number of transactions (i.e., checks or ATM withdrawals) that post to your account each day. In rare cases, OD and NSF fees may not post on the same day as the transaction which caused the fee(s). As a result, more than five OD and NSF fees may post to your account on a single day. However, KeyBank will never assess fees for more than five transactions posted per day.

Please retain this information with your personal checking account fees and disclosures documents.
